Dear Parents/Carers,

As you may know it is World Book Day on Thursday 4th March. Every year Park Hill gets involved and we are always very excited to be able to celebrate all things to do with books and reading! From our favourite authors to the best books we have ever read...and this year will be no different. However, we are aware that we will still be remote learning next week and so have a plan so that we can do this year in style and celebrate twice. On Thursday 4th March, but then again when we are all back in school, on Thursday 11th March.

Thursday 4th March

This will be a remote World Book Day and will involve all of our live sessions being to do with reading – from a whole class shared read to becoming an author and getting creative! The weekly timetable will provide further details of this.

Thursday 11th March

This will be 'The Big Dress Up' along with class to class shared reading experiences (virtually of course) and also the big finale of 'The Masked Reader' where the children will have to guess who the masked reader is by using the disguised voice and a few clues! There may be prizes involved!!!

Our dress up theme this year will be 'Your Favourite Word'.

Children will come to school dressed as a word from their favourite book! For example, they may choose the word CHOCOLATE from Charlie and The Chocolate Factory and then come dressed as a chocolate bar! Or they could choose the word 'CHICKEN' from The House with The Chicken Legs; the word 'MAGIC' from The Magic Paintbrush. It is really up to them to be as creative as they wish! Teachers will be making their best efforts too so keep an eye out on Dojo for some imaginative and creative (or even a little silly looking) teachers.

We hope you are looking forward to this as much as we are!

From Mrs Petros
